New Neighborhood Nest

Palihouse Santa Monica debuts its latest boutique of beach lodge luxe

It's sure to be a summer of style and relaxation now that Palihouse has moved into the neighborhood. Nestled within the residential streets of Santa Monica, this new beach chic destination offers a one-of-a-kind stay with easy beach access for business and leisure travelers and locals. With a conviction that community, unique local experiences, and inspiring places are integral to a life well traveled, Avi Brosh's Paligroup set their sights on Santa Monica. "We are always looking to expand into neighborhoods that we love and frequent, so Santa Monica was a natural next step," said Brosh, Paligroup's Founder, President and Creative Director. "This location boasts a more relaxed, beach-inspired vibe, versus our other properties that are decidedly more urban." The 36-room boutique beach lodge is housed in a Spanish Colonial Revival-style building formerly occupied by The Embassy Hotel Apartments. The building, with roots dating back to 1927, was deemed a historic landmark by the City of Santa Monica. PalihouseSantaMonica.com
